

BEGINNER LEVEL

Run/Walk Half Marathon Training Plan

Run/walk method for brand new runners:

A standard run/walk ratio for those who are taking their first running steps is to run for 5 to 10 seconds during each minute of your run and walk for the rest of the minute. If all goes well, you can increase during the third week of the training plan to 10 to 20 seconds of running; walk for the rest of the minute. On the 5th week, increase to 20 to 30 seconds of running while walking for the rest of the minute-if all is well. If you are huffing and puffing, experiencing aches or pains, or struggling in any way, drop back to walking more and running less each minute. Remember, the walks are supposed to be slower than the runs-the speeds should be significantly different.

Run/walk method for beginners:

You will adjust the amount of each run/walk interval for your pace per mile. Beginner runners should continue running 10 to 20 seconds every minute for most of the long runs. Those who have been running for at least three months could use the chart on the right as a guide.

Cross train:

Choose something you enjoy that gives you a good cardio workout. Walking is always good cross train. You can also swim, bike, row, or use the elliptical.

Saturdays/Long Run:

Use the run/walk ratios that you use on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Remember, you can adjust these intervals throughout your training to find the ratio that works best.
